Commoditizing Rx Costs for Large Employers

Immediately Improve EBITDA By Seven Figures YOY By Drastically Reducing Your Rx Spend

THE PROBLEM

Here's the deal: You're getting taken for millions. Right now, the FTC and Congress are investigating six of the largest pharmacy benefit managers in the United States. Why lack of transparency. Sky high prices.

And as National Community Pharmacists Association CEO B. Douglas Hoey said recently, "PBMs behave like monopolies. Their secretive, anticompetitive practices increase prescription drug prices, limit consumer choice, and stymie competition."

What's more – the FTC notes the idea of vertical integration means the largest PBMs are essentially in bed with major health plans and mail order and specialty pharmacies giving them even greater impact on prices.

WHAT IT MEANS FOR YOU AND YOUR COMPANY

All of this means self-funded groups are spending way too much for prescription drugs. What you may not know, is that there are 54 other PBM's that have been shut out of vying for your business. This lack of competition is forcing you to pay millions more than you should.
